8/17/2017 — The 18th Civil Engineer Squadron hosted hands-on fire training with local firefighters from various cities in Okinawa August 14.

“We conducted hands-on training on an F-15 to demonstrate the egress procedures, discussed the hazards associated with the aircraft, and showed a demo on what we would do on an emergency response,” said Master Sgt. Billy Parham, 18th CES, assistant chief of training.

The training was a crucial step in preparedness and readiness for the local firefighters in the case of an emergency. Depending on the location of an emergency, local firefighters will be the first to respond.

According to Parham, this training is important for the locals as well to know how to handle emergencies with either our aircraft, or the Japan Self-Defense Force aircraft.

“They have completely different missions than what we have,” said Parham. “Our primary focus is on aircraft and then secondary is structural, where their mission is primarily structural. It’s great for them to come in and see the aircraft, learn the hazards on the aircraft, and then, if anything happens in their district with one of our aircraft,

Senior Airman Keith Brown, 18th Civil Engineer Squadron firefighter, makes final checks to his partner’s equipment during annual hands-on fire training August 14, at Kadena Air Base. Okinawan firefighters and members of the 18th CES keep Team Kadena and Okinawa safe by learning to work together.

they’re prepared to handle it.”

The training conducted is in line with the mandated yearly training by the United States Forces Japan agreement, and the host site rotates between the different branches on the island.

“The training happens yearly, it alternates between who takes the lead,” said 1st Lt. Jesse O’Connor, 18th CES, readiness and emergency management flight commander. “It’s one of a four-part requirement. There’s a hands-on, two table-tops, and a field training exercise.”

The training is an opportunity to help members from the 18th CES understand more about the different equipment used by the local firefighters, as well as helping break down the language barrier.

“Our stuff is not compatible with theirs when it comes to fire apparatuses, so they get to see what we have and we get to see what they have so that we can put it together,” said Parham. “It opens the doors to the Japanese and shows we do care about our impact here.”

Training together makes a positive impact on the local community and Kadena. By teaching Okinawan firefighters how Team Kadena’s firefighters operate, members of the 18th CES help keep Team Kadena and Okinawa safe, secure, and prepared for any emergency.

Shimajiri Kenichi, Kadena Fire Emergency Service fire inspector, explains the equipment at Fire Station No. 1 during annual hands-on fire training August 14, at Kadena Air Base. More than 50 local firefighters visited to observe how Kadena’s firefighters respond during an emergency.

SecAF, CSAF visit 386 AEW, talk top priorities with Airmen

386th Air Expeditionary Wing Public Affairs
8/21/2017 - SOUTHWEST ASIA — Secretary of the Air Force Heather Wilson and Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. David L. Goldfein visited the 386th Air Expeditionary Wing at an undisclosed location in Southwest Asia Aug. 19-20, to talk top priorities with Airmen.

Wilson and Goldfein started their visit with an all call luncheon at the 386th Expeditionary Force Support Squadron's Desert Winds dining facility where the Air Force's top leaders addressed the crowd of U.S. service members and joint coalition partners, thanking them for their role in the fight before making their way around the dining facility and interacting with Airmen.

"For the secretary and I, this is our opportunity to look you face to face, to get around to shake your hand and to say thank you to you and your families for serving when your nation needs you most," said Goldfein. "It matters and I'm proud to be your chief."

The following day, the 386th AEW hosted a wing town hall where Wilson and Goldfein took center stage to discuss top priorities for the future of the Air Force.

Wilson spoke about the five Air Force Priorities of restoring readiness, cost-effective modernization, leadership development, innovation and strengthening alliances.

"The Air Force of today doesn't win on its own, and neither do the Army or the Navy, and neither do our coalition partners," said Wilson. "We have to develop joint leaders, and the chief and I are focused on the squadron as where leadership really matters most. The culture of the Air Force is set at the squadron, not at the headquarters, so we will seek to develop those great joint leaders and teams."

Goldfein then went on to emphasize the strategic importance of the Airman's role in supporting and enabling the Iraqis in taking back their country.

"Every Airman matters," he said. "Every mission that we bring here matters."

AF seeks 69th Annual Arthur S. Flemming Award nominations

By Staff Sgt. Alexx Pons

Air Force Personnel Center Public Affairs
8/21/2017 - JOINT BASE SAN ANTONIO-RANDOLPH, Texas — Air Force officials are seeking nominations for the 69th Annual Arthur S. Flemming Award.

The award, sponsored by George Washington University and the Arthur S. Fleming Awards Commission, honors outstanding federal employees who have made significant and extraordinary contributions to the federal government in the categories of leadership and/or management; legal achievement; social science, clinical trials and translational research; applied science and engineering; and basic science.

The Air Force can submit two civil service or military members per category for a total of 10 nominations.

The purpose of the award is to recognize outstanding and meritorious achievement while working for the federal government; to encourage the highest standards of performance in the federal service; to enhance appreciation of our form of government and the opportunities and responsibilities it presents; and to attract outstanding individuals to a career in federal service.

Organizations and base-level personnel must contact their major command, combatant command, field operating agency or direct reporting unit for applicable suspense dates and additional information regarding nomination procedures. Nomination packages are due to the Air Force's Personnel Center by Nov. 17.

Specific eligibility and application procedures are available via myPers. Select "any" from the dropdown menu and search "Flemming."

Kadena and Camp Foster emergency numbers

Kadena Fire Emergency Services reminds everyone to program their cell phones with the emergency numbers. To report an emergency on Kadena via cell, dial 098-934-5911, and from an office phone, dial 911. For Camp Foster via cell, dial 098-911-1911, or from an office phone, dial 911.

How to Receive Emergency Notifications in English on Cell Phone

Cell phones across Okinawa currently receive emergency text notifications in Japanese from mobile phone service providers. To receive emergency notifications by e-mail in English, contact the Readiness & Emergency Management Flight at 634-4404.

AADD: Get Home Safe

Did you drink tonight? Made a plan but it's falling through? Can't catch a cab? If any of this applies to you, call AADD. Don't risk it all, when you can get a ride home for free. Call AADD at the cell phone number 098-961-1110 and then ask for the USO or dial DSN: 634-3889. We're open from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. and we're here to help.

Kadena Lodging Shortages

Kadena Lodging is in a compressed state for availability of rooms. We anticipate limited to no space for the next 10-12 months. We will make our very best effort to support your needs based either on base if we have it or through certificate of non-availability and a recommended off base hotel list. Contact 632-1010 "Reservations" for more information.

18th MDG Clinic Closure

The Kadena Air Base clinic will be closed on the following dates this year: Sep 4 (Holiday) - Closed All Day / Sep 5 (Family Day) - Closed All Day / Sep 21 (MDG Training Day) - Closed 12- 4:30 p.m. We apologize for any inconvenience that this may cause. As always, in the event of an emergency, seek emergency services at the US Naval Hospital on Camp Foster or by dialing ambulance services at 634-1796 or 098-934-5911 by cell phone. For more information, contact Capt. Jennifer Stark at 630-4565, Staff Sgt. Larissa Palmer at 630-4504, or Ms. Melissa Cook at 630-5050.

Blended Retirement System Opt-In Eligibility Notifications

On Feb. 10, 2017, the Air Force Personnel Center began notifying Regular Air Force (RegAF) officer and enlisted Airmen of their eligibility to opt in to the new retirement plan known as the Blended Retirement System (BRS) starting Jan. 1, 2018. Airmen with less than 12 years of service as of Dec. 31, 2017 based on their pay date will be eligible to switch to the BRS upon implementation Jan. 1, 2018. All Airmen (officer and enlisted) receiving this notification must click on the Blended Retirement System link to review the BRS notification data and complete the acknowledgement. Acknowledgement is mandatory. For more information, please contact Tech. Sgt. Agnes Pena, Military Personnel Section, 632-4967.

What's Okinawaetcetera?

THE CUTE AND MYSTERIOUS CLOWN FISH

The clown fish, which has even been featured as the hero of a movie, is popular throughout the world and there are six varieties that can be seen in Japan. These can all be found in the Okinawan ocean and because they often live in shallow waters, they are relatively easy to find even when snorkelling.

Of course they are also a popular resident of the Churaumi Aquarium.

They have a symbiotic relationship alongside anemone where the clown fish can hide amongst the anemone, and the anemone can eat plankton and such which is stirred up in the surrounding sea water by clown fish.

It might look cute when their faces appear from amongst the swaying anemone, but inside they might be looking after their young.

When clown fish are born, they are actually all male.

Amongst them, those who are the largest become females and the second largest male breeds with them. This is one of the mysteries of life.

Hai Sai! Chanpuru Time

HAI-SAI! (Hello) Chanpuru is Okinawan for "something mixed" and the word also is used when talking about the mixture of cultures. In this corner, we will go over some fun tips as you enjoy your stay on the island.

Vol.25 Adan & Pineapple

Adan (Pandanus odorifer)

Adan grows near the shoreline of sandy beaches. An aerial root grows from the trunk to the ground to support it. It's called Kikon. Adan can grow as tall as 5-6 meters high.

No leaves

Shape is round and not edible.

Leaves on the top

Pineapple

Okinawan pineapples were smuggled in from Hawaii after World War II to help the island's agricultural industry.

More of an oval shape and delicious!
