COB WEBS AND BROOMSTICKS KADENA SET FOR HALLOWEEN FUN

By Staff Sgt. Micaiah Anthony

18th Wing Public Affairs

10/25/2018 — Come Oct. 31st the streets of base housing will be filled with zombies, witches, superheroes and other various costume clad children and adults all vying to fill their tummies with candy for Halloween.

All housing on Kadena Air Base – Stearly Heights, Seville Manor, North Terrace, Terrace Heights, Marek Park, Jennings, Washington Heights, Clark Vista and Chibana housing – may be visited for trick-or-treating from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m.

In order to ensure more treats are enjoyed rather than tricks, defenders from the 18th SFS will take to the streets to keep trick-or-treaters safe.

“[Our defenders] will be out conducting additional walking/mobile patrols and interacting with the community. We hope to improve our overall community relations while protecting the installation,” said Master Sgt. David Izaguirre, 18th Security Forces Squadron flight operations superintendent. “Base residents who do not wish to participate in this event are asked to turn off outside lights and close their blinds so that trick-or-treaters will bypass your home.”

Members from the local community are also welcome to enjoy the festivities, however they must be escorted on base.

“[Status of Forces Agreement] sponsored ID cardholders aged 18 or older, Master Labor Contract employees, Indirect Hire Agreement and Mariners Contract employees may sponsor up to five personnel regardless of escort privileges,” Izaguirre added. “MLC, IHA and MC employees are authorized to enter the base through Gates one, two, and three from 5:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m., regardless of their approved duty hours, but must be off the installation no later than 9 p.m.”

To ensure a safe Halloween for all, Staff Sgt. Kory Campbell, 18th Wing occupational safety apprentice, recommends guardians and trick-or-treaters take the appropriate safety precautions before they leave their homes.

“It’s important not to let your guard down when it comes to safety as there are many hazards that children and adults may face during this exciting time of the year,” Campbell said. “Planning a safe route of travel beforehand and while trick-or-treating will help keep kids safe. It’s also highly encouraged that parents have reflective material on their kids costume to make them more visible in the hours of darkness. If reflective material is not feasible, glow sticks or the use of flash lights will also be effective.”

Campbell also advises that all the candy received should be inspected by an adult before consumption and guardians should be on the lookout for unwrapped, homemade or suspicious looking candy.

Check out more tips below to ensure a safe and fun Halloween night.

- When traveling from house to house, use the sidewalk as there may be vehicles entering and exiting residential areas.
- Abstain from walking in grass or on uneven pavement in the hours of darkness to reduce the risk of tripping.
- Houses that do not have any lighting should be avoided for you and your children’s safety.
- Children should never enter homes without a trusted adult by their side.
- Children under 12 should trick-or-treat and cross streets with an adult.
- Children over the age of 12 should travel in groups of two or more.
- Wear well-fitting masks, costumes, and shoes.
- Watch out for open flames and other heating sources.
- Look for costumes that are fire resistant in nature.
- If a costume comes with swords and knives, ensure they are short soft and flexible.
- Always test face paint or makeup on small areas of skin before it is applied.
- Remember to remove face paint or makeup before bed as it could cause eye and skin irritations.

Air Force extends high year of tenure for E-4s through E-6s

By Secretary of the Air Force
Public Affairs

10/22/2018 - ARLINGTON, Va. — The Air Force is extending the high year of tenure for senior airmen through technical sergeants beginning Feb. 1, 2019.

The memo, signed Oct. 18, 2018, extends the high year of tenure from eight to 10 years for senior airmen, from 15 to 20 years for staff sergeants and from 20 to 22 years for technical sergeants.

Airmen in these ranks who reach their HYT prior to Feb. 1, 2019, or those who are currently approved for separation or retirement under the previous HYT limits, may submit a request to extend their HYT beginning Oct. 24 to the updated limit if government funds have not been expended on their separation or retirement, such as moving expenses.

“This is just one of the ways we are working to manage the talent we currently have,” said Chief Master Sgt. of the Air Force Kaleth O. Wright. “Adjusting the high year of tenure policy will allow us to keep Airmen we’ve trained and developed over the course of their careers, and allow them to continue to serve their nation to the best of their ability and pay it forward, by training the next generation of Airmen who are right behind them.”

The Air Force will use the flexibility to retain talented mid-tier Airmen to provide training, leadership and mentoring to the growing number of accessions who are joining the force.

“As we grow the force, we need to retain technically skilled experts across our ranks,” said Lt. Gen. Brian Kelly, Air Force deputy chief of staff for manpower, personnel, and services. “By extending high year of tenure, we’re able to leverage our talented, seasoned professionals to train, develop, and lead new Airmen to accomplish current and future mission requirements.”

The Air Force will consider using career job reservations and noncommissioned officer retraining programs as needed to ensure that its growth is deliberately targeted to meet the needs of the National Defense Strategy.

“These force-shaping tools are critical to ensuring the investment we’ve made in enhancing our Airmen’s technical skills are leveraged and allocated across the force deliberately,” said Kelly.

Senior airmen through technical sergeants with an HYT of Feb 1, 2019, and later, will automatically have their HYT adjusted by AFPC in accordance with this policy. Those hitting HYT prior to Feb. 1 can request an extension via the virtual manpower and personnel flight.

“Service in the Air Force is an honor, not a right or an entitlement,” Wright said. “Supervisors and commanders will continue to ensure that proper conduct and mission performance are the primary factors in determining continued service.”

10/23/2018 — Lt. Gen. Jerry Martinez, U.S. Forces, Japan, and 5th Air Force commander, and Chief Master Sgt. Terrence Greene, USFJ and 5th AF command chief, visited here to observe the 18th Wing mission and engage the Airmen, spouses and families of Team Kadena Oct. 16.

During the visit, Martinez and Greene assessed the operational readiness of Team Kadena's processes, such as Rapid Airfield Damage Repair, Medical War Reserves readiness, and F-15 Eagle operations.

"Kadena Air Base is the power projection platform of the Pacific," Martinez said. "It's a crown jewel as part of our Air Force fleet out there, and as the threats in this region are evolving and becoming more and more concerning, it's important for Airmen here to know we are going to rely on Kadena right away if we ever have to go into any type of contingency, or display our combat operations capability."

With about 54,000 U.S. men and women serving in Japan, the U.S. - Japan alliance acts as the anchor for peace and stability in the Pacific, Martinez said, and the strength of the alliance is underpinned by the readiness of the US military members stationed here.

"The men and women of Kadena need to know that their training, readiness, safety, wellness and security have to be at the top and ready for any potential adversary," Martinez said.

Martinez stressed the importance of working alongside the Japan Air Self Defense Force to enhance security in the region.

"Having interoperability between our forces gives us great power in the Indo-Pacific region," Martinez said.

In closing, Martinez thanked the members of Team Kadena for their service and for sharing their perspectives on operations in the Indo-Pacific.

"My visit to Kadena has been exceptional," Martinez said. "It was really helpful for me to see the issues faced by the men and women in uniform, to understand what they do in support of the mission, and what their challenges are as well as their successes."

USFJ Commander presents medals to JASDF rescue crew

(U.S. Air Force photos by Staff Sgt. Jessica H. Smith)

By Senior Airman Jessica Smith

18th Wing Public Affairs

10/23/2018 — U.S. Forces Japan and 5th Air Force Commander, Lt. Gen. Jerry Martinez visited Naha Air Base, Oct. 15, to recognize members of the Naha Air Rescue Squadron, Southwestern Air Defense Force, for their heroic actions.

On June 11, a pilot stationed at Kadena Air Base, had to eject from his F-15C and landed in the ocean. The Japan Air Self-Defense Force was there to help and played a crucial role in saving his life.

“It was a very dangerous situation for him, and the Japanese response was immediate,” Martinez explained. “They got to him, provided medical care and got him to a hospital and saved our pilot’s life.”

Martinez began his visit by attending a briefing with both U.S. Air Force leadership and JASDF leadership to better understand the structure and mission of the Naha rescue squadron.

“We have to be able to understand what the Japanese are doing – they have to understand what we’re doing and having that interoperability between our forces is going to give us great combat power in the Indo-Pacific region,” he explained.

After the briefing, he was able to thank everyone for their actions – from the pararescuemen to the aircraft maintainers.

“I talked to them about their mission and how they support U.S. Forces Japan, and certainly, I thanked the entire leadership and their squadron for doing what they did,” Martinez said.

He concluded his visit with an award ceremony to recognize the individuals who played a part in the rescue by presenting them with U.S. Air Force medals for their life-saving actions.

“It was an honor to present numerous medals to the people who saved our pilot’s life,” Martinez expressed. “For that, I am forever grateful.”

USO Okinawa names Fall 2018 Volunteer of the Quarter

By Tamara Owens
USO Foster Center Manager

Fall 2018 USO Okinawa Volunteer of the Quarter: Lance Corporal Samuel Isaac Jacksonwest

Volunteer Location: USO Camp Foster

Occupation/branch of service: Network Administrator-Communications/United States Marine Corps

Volunteer start date and total # of volunteer hours: May 15, 2018/480 volunteer hours

How did the volunteer hear about volunteering with USO Okinawa and what made him/her want to get involved with the USO? Sam heard about the USO volunteer opportunities when he first arrived on island. The USO representative visited the Joint Reception Center, where he was assigned at the time, to give a briefing regarding the services/opportunities that the USO provides to service members. After hearing the information he knew that he wanted to be a part of giving back to others.

What's a fun fact about the volunteer? A few fun facts about Sam is that he is an Atlanta Falcons football fan that loves listening to music and weight lifting.

What's the best thing about volunteering? "The best thing about volunteering is most definitely the opportunity to interact with everyone. The USO is a place where you can get away from the high ops tempo of the military environment. The center is relaxing and the big screen TVs are awesome during football season." - Sam Jacksonwest

Kadena High School junior

10/18/2018 — Most high schools seniors take their class photo in a gymnasium or on football bleachers, but Kadena High School seniors had the unique opportunity to take their photo on the Kadena Air Base flightline next to an F-15C Eagle.

The 18th Operations Group oversees the flightline and all flying operations on Kadena Air Base, and is the largest combat ops group in the Air Force. Due to the flightline's full schedule, it took weeks to coordinate this event to celebrate Kadena High School's senior class. Lt. Col Justin "Chet" Vincent of the 67th Fighter Squadron arranged for the F-15C Eagle to be positioned in the background of the photo.

Principal Kristopher Kwiatek supported the seniors in their desire to capture a unique portrait of their high school experience.

"[The class of 2019] was the first group of kids that I worked with when I arrived in Okinawa; I used to play basketball with them when I was the principal at Kadena Middle School. They have been a really great class to work with and are very special to me," stated Kwiatek.

After the photo, the seniors were originally scheduled to do a beach clean-up on Torri Station. However, due to the damage caused by Typhoon Trami and Typhoon Kong-Rey, the seniors were not able to spend their day at the beach. Instead, they returned to Kadena High School and watched movies, participated in outdoor games and spent time with their classmates. These last minute changes were also coordinated by student council members.

The seniors of Kadena High School will forever remember their high school experience, and now they will have a group photo that commemorates the Class of 2019. Senior LJ Hollingsworth said, "I appreciate all the hard work put into planning the day for seniors."

Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 3 completes turnover, assumes authority of Indo-Pacific Region NCF operations

By Mass Communication Specialist 2nd Class Michael Lopez

Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 3 Public Affairs

10/22/2018 - CAMP SHIELDS — Naval Mobile Construction Battalion (NMCB) 3 assumed charge of all Indo-Pacific Region Naval Construction Force (NCF) missions from NMCB-5 during a Relief in Place/Transfer of Authority (RIP/TOA) ceremony at Camp Shields in Okinawa, Oct. 22.

The RIP/TOA marked the official start of NMCB-3's deployment and the end of NMCB-5's deployment to Indo-Pacific Region that began in April when the battalion deployed from Port Hueneme, Calif., where both NMCBs are home ported.

Capt. Robert Baughman, commander of Navy Expeditionary Forces Command Pacific and Task Force 75, presided over the ceremony.

"NMCB-5 delivered 22,000 man hours and over $6 million worth of construction efforts during the course of their deployment," said Baughman. I want to thank the NMCB-5 team for everything you have done here throughout your deployment, and I wish you the best of luck as you wrap-up and head back to home port."

While continuing his remarks, Baughman extended a warm welcome and words of encouragement to the Seabees of NMCB-3.

"I want to welcome NMCB-3 back to this area of operations," said Baughman. "I'm confident that you all are going to do great things given the experience you have gained here during previous deployments. With that being said, I urge you all to stay focused and be ready because NMCBs are a vital component in achieving what we need to do as the Navy Expeditionary Force."

Cmdr. Joseph Harder, commanding officer of NMCB-3 relieved Cmdr. Omarr Tobias, commanding officer of NMCB-5, in officially assuming all duties and responsibilities from the battalion.

"Congratulations to the Seabees of NMCB-5 on a phenomenal deployment," said Harder. "Thank you for your commitment in setting conditions for our success, and for your transparency in helping us understand the challenges of the mission in front of us. We have the watch, so travel safely, and I wish you the best of luck during the challenging homeport cycle ahead of you."

Harder expressed his excitement for the battalion's deployment saying that Seabees join the Navy not just to train, but to put their skills to work by executing missions on foreign shores.

"For the Seabees of NMCB-3: you have worked very hard to be prepared for this challenging mission," said Harder. "The senior leaders of this battalion have worked incredibly hard to set our standards high, and now it's your opportunity to contribute to the 76-year legacy of the Seabees in the Pacific. Let's make it happen!"

The ceremony concluded with the lowering of NMCB-5's battalion flag and the raising of NMCB-3's to signify the transfer of authority.

Before the RIP/TOA occurred, a week-long inspection and review was conducted of all equipment, supplies, projects, facilities and civil engineering support equipment (CESE).

When a Seabee battalion deploys, it does not travel with equipment. Instead, all construction equipment and supplies are already at the deployment sites. A detailed turnover must be conducted before the incoming battalion commences work.

"Alfa Company arrived at Camp Shields in several waves on various days," said Lt. Corey Cattano, Alfa Company commander. "I'm very impressed with what we were able to accomplish given our atypical arrival schedule. We had some issues embarking out to Okinawa, but I've always said that when Seabees are needed, they step up to the plate and that was evident during this turnover."

The CESE undergoes a more thorough inspection in a process called the Battalion Equipment Evaluation Program (BEEP). The BEEP inspection is designed to transfer all special knowledge of CESE maintenance, operations and techniques to the relieving battalion. During the BEEP inspection, NMCB-3's Alfa Company, consisting of construction mechanics and equipment operators, inspected and received custody of more than 340 units of CESE from NMCB-5.

"The Alfa Company Seabees did an outstanding job in the teamwork aspect as we worked alongside NMCB-5," said Cattano. "Not only were we working with Seabees from another battalion, who were simultaneously trying to pack up their things to end a successful deployment and get home to their families, but we had to work amongst ourselves to get the job done in a timely and professional manner."

When the inspection was complete, a red diamond shaped sticker with a white number three, called a BEEP sticker, was placed on each piece of CESE. A red diamond identifies the CESE as belonging to an NMCB; a triangle identifies it as belonging to a naval construction regiment.

NMCB-3 is forward deployed throughout the Indo-Pacific region and United States ready to support major combat operations, theater security, humanitarian assistance and disaster relief operations. Seabees provide general engineering and civil support to Navy, Marine Corps and joint operational forces globally.

DBIDS 5.0 - Unescorted passes and contractor badge reissue

A scheduled upgrade to the installation access system has completed and DBIDS 5.0 is now live at Kadena Air Base. For all personnel possessing a DEERS linked form of identification (e.g. Common Access Card) there is no action required; DBIDS will automatically create a database profile the first time your identification is scanned by a hand-held device upon entry to the installation. All previously issued unescorted passes and USFJ 98EJ contractor badges will require registration and reissue of a new secure DBIDS 5.0 hard-card form of identification. To facilitate a smooth transition, these unescorted passes and USFJ 98EJ contractor badges will remain valid for a 90 day period while the Gate 1 Visitor Center conducts the registration and reissue process. All personnel that need reissue are encouraged to visit the Gate 1 Visitor Center at their earliest convenience. On Nov. 16 the installation will no longer accept unescorted passes and USFJ 98EJ contractor badges, and personnel still possessing these passes will be denied access and directed to the Gate 1 Visitor Center for registration and reissue.

Road Closure

Partial Road Closure/alternate traffic flow is scheduled from July 9 to Oct. 31 on Schreiber Ave near Bldg 250 to Bldg 3416. Flaggers and traffic lights will be posted. This is to support Government of Japan construction project in the vicinity. For any information or concerns, please contact Eishin Hiyajo at 634-4285, or Email eishin.hiyajo.jp@us.af.mil.

October is Energy Action Month: #ProtectThePower

Make energy conservation a consideration in everything you do at work, home and on the battlefield. INFORMATION 18th Wing Equal Opportunity

Do you face concerns of unlawful discrimination or sexual harassment? If so, Kadena Air Base leadership maintains a strict "zero-tolerance" policy pertaining to discriminatory behavior. If you feel you are being unlawfully discriminated against, to include sexual harassment, take action. We encourage members to use the chain of command first to resolve issues at the lowest level. However, you can also contact the EO office at 634-2571 to set up an appointment; or you may visit our office. Please note that the EO office will not accept a Formal Complaint more than 60 calendar days for military and 45 calendar days for civilian complaints after the alleged offense occurred without sufficient justification.

How to File a Complaint with IG

If you believe you are unable to resolve your complaint through supervisory channels, you may seek IG assistance to determine if the complaint should be filed with the IG. You can file a complaint if you reasonably believe inappropriate conduct has occurred or a violation of law, policy, procedures, or regulation has been committed. Complete the personnel data information on an AF Form 102 and briefly outline the facts and relevant information related to the issue or complaint. List the allegations of wrongdoing briefly, in general terms and provide supporting narrative detail and documents later, when interviewed by an IG person. Allegations should be written as bullets and should answer who committed the violation; what violation was committed; what law, regulation, procedures, or policy was violated; when did the violation occur. Help is available: Call your Kadena IG office at 634-7622 for Maj. Sarabia or 634-1109 for SMSgt. Southern, or leave a message on the Kadena Fraud Waste & Abuse (FWA) Hotline at 634-0404.

Kadena and Camp Foster Emergency Numbers

Kadena Fire Emergency Services reminds everyone to program their cell phones with the emergency numbers. To report an emergency on Kadena via cell, dial 098-934-5911, and from an office phone, dial 911. For Camp Foster via cell, dial 098-911-1911, or from an office phone, dial 911.

AADD: Get Home Safe NOW LOCATED AT THE USO

Did you drink tonight? Made a plan but it's falling through? Can't catch a cab? If any of this applies to you, call AADD. Don't risk it all, when you can get a ride home for free. Call AADD at the cell phone number 098-961-1110 and then ask for the USO or dial DSN: 634-3889. We're open from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. and we're here to help. Also
