Halloween on Kadena

By 18th Wing Public Affairs

10/24/2019 - KADENA AIR BASE — Trick-or-Treat on Kadena Air Base Oct. 31, from 6 – 8 p.m.

Base residents who do not wish to participate in this event are asked to turn-off outside lights and close their blinds on the evening of Oct. 31 so that trick-or-treaters will by-pass the home.

SOFA-sponsored ID cardholders (age 18 or older) may escort five (5) guests from the local community on their own accord without getting passes, but they must accompany them throughout their entire time on the installation. Guests over 16 years of age will be required to bring photo identification to confirm their nationality. Sponsors and guests can enter through Gate 1, Gate 2 and Gate 3 between the hours of 5:30 – 8:30 p.m. and must be escorted off the installation by 10 p.m. Guests may drive their vehicles on the installation behind their escort, but are limited to one (1) car and must remain with the escort for the duration of the visit.

Japanese employees (MLCs, IHAs and MCs) are authorized to enter the base through Gate 1, Gate 2 or Gate 3 from 5:30 – 8:30 p.m., Oct. 31, regardless of their approved duty hours on their 98EJ. Additionally, MLC, IHA and MC employees may sponsor up to five (5) personnel regardless of escort privileges. Japanese employees are responsible for ensuring the welfare of all of their visitors while on base. MLC, IHA and MC employee spouses must present photo IDs to prove their identities when entering the installation. Also, individuals desiring to visit the installation for purposes other than trick-or-treating will abide by standard escort procedures. All individuals driving on Kadena Air Base will abide by KABI 31-218 (utilizing car seats, traffic control and parking instructions, etc.)

For more information, contact Public Affairs Office at 634-3813.

Halloween Safety 101

Children Should

- Cross streets only at corners, cross walks, and look left/right/left.
- Never cross between parked cars.
- Walk facing the oncoming traffic if there is no sidewalk.
- Always remove masks before crossing streets.
- Be aware of cars that may be turning into or backing out of driveways.
- Never go into a stranger's house.
- Walk. Do not run from house to house. Do not cross yards and lawns where unseen objects or the uneven terrain can present tripping hazards.

Parents Should

- Know the route their children will be taking.
- Accompany small children at all times.
- Set time limits on when children should return home or meet parents at an established meeting point.
- Explain to children the difference between tricks and vandalism.
- Instruct children NOT to eat treats until they return home and parents have had a chance to inspect those treats.
- Supervise the outing for children under age 12.
- Know the names of older children's companions.
- Give children an early meal before going out.
- When in doubt, throw suspicious candy and treats out.

Costumes Should

- Be made of flame-retardant material.
- Be made of bright material.
- Include a flashlight or reflector strips on the costume, so that children can be seen.
- NOT include high-heeled shoes or long dangling pieces that a child may trip over.
- Be short enough to prevent children from tripping and falling.

- Be loose so warm clothes can be worn underneath and have rain gear handy.
- Not be worn with a mask since it can obstruct a child's vision. If masks are worn, they should have nose and mouth openings and large eye holes.
- Use facial make-up instead of masks. The U.S. Food and Drug Administration recommends to only use products intended for skin and test products in a small area in case of allergic reactions. Avoid putting facial paint near the eyes and throw away paint if it smells foul. Thoroughly wash off paint before going to bed.
- Knives, swords and other accessories should be made from cardboard or flexible materials. Do not allow children to carry sharp objects.
- Bags or sacks carried by youngsters should be light-colored or trimmed with retro-reflective tape if children are allowed out after dark.

Motorists Should

- Drive cautiously. Excited youngsters may forget some of these safety rules and dart out in front of a car.
- Refrain from driving in areas where no walking escorts are present and only drive for emergency reasons during the Halloween events.

Residents Should

- Remove all obstacles from their lawn and steps to prevent children from being injured. If you have Halloween inflatables in your yard, ensure a safe walkway is maintained and anchor lines are easily identified.
- Have a well-lit home, both inside and out, to prevent injuries.
- Keep dogs and other pets away from doors so children will not become frightened.
- Keep candlelit jack-o-lanterns away from doorsteps and landings.

AF formalizes officer developmental categories, effective March 0-5 board

By Secretary of the Air Force Public Affairs

10/21/2019 - WASHINGTON — The Air Force announced Oct. 21 it formally established six distinct officer developmental groupings for active component line officers, which will take effect in March 2020 for the lieutenant colonel promotion board.

The historic decision comes after months of work by Air Force officials to reconfigure the single Line of the Air Force category, enhancing the officer talent management system and enabling tailored and agile development.

“This is an important step forward in the way Air Force leaders are developed,” said Secretary of the Air Force Barbara M. Barrett. “The team has done exceptional work to get us to this point and I look forward to implementing this together.”

Over the summer, Air Force officials traveled to more than a dozen bases to hold 42 town-hall sessions talking with more than 3,700 Airmen about the proposed developmental categories change and captured feedback. Based on that feedback, the new categories were established on Oct. 7th.

The Line of the Air Force category will be expanded into six categories: Air Operations and Special Warfare, Nuclear and Missile Operations, Space Operations, Information Warfare, Combat Support, and Force Modernization.

“This change is about ensuring we maintain a winning team,” said Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. David L. Goldfein. “The existing Line of the Air Force category has served our Air Force well and molded the excellent leaders we have today. As we look to the future of warfighting, we must have an agile system that allows for a wider range of development paths to ensure officers have the needed skills and expertise to fight and win. This sets us on that path.”

Before this change, the LAF category was comprised of more than 40 different officer Air Force Specialty Codes, and accounted for about 80% of the officer corps. The LAF category has remained virtually unchanged since the establishment of the Air Force as a separate service in 1947.

Now, rather than competing for promotion against 40 different career fields with varied job requirements, officers will compete against officers in other fields that have similar progression milestones, experiences and mission area focus. The new categories will allow each career field the freedom and agility to better tailor officer development to meet job demands without compromising competitive position at a promotion board.

The Air Force has released several reforms over the last couple years as part of a larger talent management system reform. Goldfein said the next phase of the reforms will address performance management.

“We believe maximizing the development of all Airmen is about having the right education, training and experiences. Getting this right enhances individual and unit performance,” Goldfein said. “Our goal through these efforts, and others, is to unleash the capabilities of our people to be ready for tomorrow’s fight.”

Categories for judge advocates, chaplains and medical personnel will remain unchanged.

A list of the new developmental categories and associated Air Force specialty codes is available at the MyPers website.

2019 TRICARE Open Season, Federal Benefits Open Season starts next month

By TRICARE Communications
10/21/2019 - FALLS CHURCH, Va. — Did you know that the TRICARE Open Season and Federal Benefits Open Season happen only once a year? Unless you experience a Qualifying Life Event, open season is your only chance to enroll in or make a change to your enrollment for the participating programs.

TRICARE Open Season applies to anyone enrolled in or eligible for a TRICARE Prime or TRICARE Select health plan. Federal Benefits Open Season is for enrollment in a Federal Employees Dental and Vision Insurance Program dental and vision plan. Both the TRICARE and FEDVIP open seasons will run from Nov. 11 to Dec. 9. The enrollment choices that you make during this period will take effect on Jan. 1, 2020.

“Get a head start on open season by reviewing your benefits now and thinking about how much health, dental, or vision coverage you’ll need for the 2020 plan year,” said Mark Ellis, chief of the Policy and Programs Section of the TRICARE Health Plan at the Defense Health Agency. “You can visit the TRICARE and FEDVIP websites to learn more about your options, specific plans, and costs.”

TRICARE Open Season

If you’re eligible to participate in TRICARE Open Season, you have three choices for your 2020 health coverage:

- Do nothing. If you want to stay in your current TRICARE health care plan, you don’t have to take any action. You’ll continue in your current health plan through 2020 or as long as you’re eligible.

- Enroll in a plan. If you’re eligible for a TRICARE Prime option or TRICARE Select but not enrolled, you can enroll in a plan now.
- Change plans. If you’re already enrolled in TRICARE Prime (including the US Family Health Plan) or TRICARE Select, you can switch plans and switch between individual and family enrollment.

TRICARE Open Season doesn’t apply to TRICARE For Life. TFL coverage is automatic if you have Medicare Part A and Part B. It also doesn’t apply to premium-based plans:

- TRICARE Retired Reserve
- TRICARE Reserve Select
- TRICARE Young Adult
- Continued Health Care Benefit Program

As described in the TRICARE Plans Overview, you can purchase premium-based plans any time.

Federal Benefits Open Season

Eligible TRICARE beneficiaries may purchase dental and vision coverage through FEDVIP during the Federal Benefits Open Season. If you’re already enrolled in a FEDVIP dental or vision plan and you don’t want to make a change, your enrollment will continue in 2020. If you wish to make changes to your existing plan, you must do so during open season.

You may choose between multiple vision and dental plans and carriers. Compare 2020 plans and rates using the FEDVIP plan comparison tool.

FEDVIP dental coverage is available to:

HAPPENING SOON! NOV. 11 - DEC. 9, 2019

- eligible family members
- Retired National Guard and Reserve members and their eligible family members
- Certain survivors
- Medal of Honor recipients and their immediate family members and survivors

FEDVIP vision coverage is available to:

- Active duty family members
- National Guard and Reserve members and their eligible family members enrolled in TRS or TRR
- Retired service members and their eligible family members
- TFL beneficiaries

To enroll in a FEDVIP vision plan, you must be enrolled in a TRICARE health plan or have TFL coverage.

Adult children enrolled in or eligible for TYA aren’t eligible for FEDVIP. This also applies to ADSMs and beneficiaries enrolled in the Transitional Assistance Management Program or CHCBP.

Don’t miss this important opportunity. Sign up for email updates about open season on the TRICARE website. Take command of your health and prepare now for this year’s TRICARE Open Season and Federal Benefits Open Season.

Cybersecurity

For better results, let's bake it in

By Servio Medina

Cyber Security Division, Defense Health Agency
10/17/2019 — October is Cybersecurity Awareness Month. It's a time to recognize and appreciate how the Defense Health Agency protects the Military Health System's information technology networks. But protecting your information is something the DHA thinks about year-round.

Cybersecurity has never been more important to safeguard and enable the DHA's health care mission. Advancements in health care IT have produced many benefits for our medical community. However, they've also coincided with a rise in cyberattacks aiming to access, change, or destroy sensitive information. These attacks not only threaten to disrupt the normal business of health care. They also may lead to medical identity theft or even unauthorized access to medical records, both of which can have serious consequences.

For cybersecurity to be successful at DHA, it needs to be "baked" into health care. While cyber incident responses are important, effective cybersecurity should prevent the risk of such incidents in the first place. Many incidents in the cyber domain involve some sort of human error: risky choices and behavior while behind the keyboard or on a smart device. We have to wonder, do cybersecurity requirements make sense to the user, and are they operationally meaningful? A provider who understands cybersecurity requirements in the context of delivering health care is better at safeguarding patient information before, during, and after the time of treatment. Fundamentally, that's what it means to bake cybersecurity into health care.

While speaking about training efforts for MHS GENESIS, the Defense Health-care Management Systems Program executive officer remarked that the point is not to train providers on how to use the electronic health record. Rather, it's how to help them do their jobs better. There's a similar consideration for cybersecurity training. Even with the required training, the most likely cause of a cyber breach is human error.

Thus, the goal of cybersecurity training shouldn't be to get smarter on cybersecurity (and pass a test), but to help individuals do their jobs better and in doing so, minimize risky cyber behavior. This underscores the importance of being operationally meaningful.

Cybersecurity applies to everyone and cannot be considered "someone else's job." It's everyone's job. Health care providers, for example, can and should continue to safeguard patient data well after the point of care. Compromised data can adversely impact health care and the patient directly.

Patients also play a role. Innovations are enabling MHS beneficiaries to have greater and easier access to electronic health records, communication and prescription tools, and more. Without cyberfitness, these innovations might lead to information being misused – intentionally or unintentionally – even with all the protections in place.

Did you know that electronic health records have privacy impact assessments?

A PIA is an analysis of how personally identifiable information is handled in DHA information systems or electronic collections. The PIA examines and evaluates protections for handling information to mitigate potential privacy risks, and documents the cybersecurity controls DHA uses to protect your information.

Cybersecurity at DHA extends beyond our hospitals and clinics. At home, MHS beneficiaries must protect themselves online and reduce their risk of becoming victims of cybercrimes. A cyberspace threat or breach to one person can affect the health and well-being of the entire family. This can impact military readiness.

As the DHA deputy director asserted in 2018, "The family being taken care of at home gives you [the warfighter] that base to go do your mission." We want the right choice to be the easy choice, especially for our deployed members and their dependents. To help with these choices, the DHA offers tips and information on cybersecurity and internet safety.

Looking toward the future, we want to hear from you. Whether you're a provider, a medical logistics official, or a patient, do the DHA's cybersecurity requirements make sense? Do you know the right choice while you're at your desk, at home, and on the road? And if you're uncertain, do you know whom to contact to get good information?

As a DHA employee or MHS beneficiary, knowing the answers, or knowing where to get those answers, is also what it means to bake cybersecurity into health care.

30th Naval Construction Regiment
10/21/2019 - SANTA RITA, Guam — U.S. Navy Seabees assigned to Naval Mobile Construction Battalion (NMCB) 5 arrived in U-Tapao, Thailand, Oct. 15, to survey potential construction project opportunities to support the Royal Thai Navy (RTN) and existing U.S. Air Force initiatives.

The Seabees are coordinating with their RTN counterparts and Joint U.S. Military Advisory Group Thailand (JUSMAGTHAI) officials to explore prospective construction projects on U-Tapao Rayong Pattaya International Airport / RTN Airfield. Future projects may include construction in support of exercise Cobra Gold, which is one of the largest theater security cooperation exercises in the Indo-Pacific, assisting with base water and septic improvements, and renovations of existing structures. The Seabees will also explore civic-focused construction that could follow completion of initial construction projects.

“Establishing a Seabee presence in Thailand will provide our most enduring ally in Asia with high quality construction assistance for a wide-range of projects bolstering our longstanding partnership,” said Capt. Steve Stasick, commodore, 30th Naval Construction Regiment. “The U.S. partnership with Thailand covers the full range of political, security, and economic cooperation, which Seabees can support and build upon. We look forward to working alongside our Thai partners to strengthen our mutually-beneficial alliance.”

The prospective construction projects reflect the longstanding navy-to-navy partnership between the two nations. The U.S. Navy and RTN train together during multiple exercises each year, including Cooperation Afloat Readiness and Training (CARAT), Cobra Gold and Rim of the Pacific (RIMPAC), while the Pacific Partnership humanitarian disaster relief mission visits Thailand each year.

NMCB 5 is forward-deployed throughout the Indo-Pacific region ready to support major combat operations, theater security, and humanitarian assistance and disaster relief operations. Seabees provide general engineering and civil support to Navy, Marine Corps and joint operational forces globally.

NOTICE

Temporary Lodging Facility (TLF) Availability

The Shogun Inn lodging will begin renovations Bldg. 437 Temporary Lodging Facility (TLF) Dec. 1, 2019 with a projected finish date of June 30, 2020.

1. The Shogun Inn's primary interest is to provide clean, comfortable, adequate temporary lodging accommodations for service members and their families.

2. The building renovation upgrades are to enhance the quality of room standards provided to our guests. This may affect inbound and outbound families Dec. 1, 2019, to June 30, 2020, as our two bedroom Temporary Lodging Facility (TLF) will be unavailable. Our one bedroom TLFs are available but limited due to accommodating reservations made on a first come first serve basis.

3. The limited number of existing one bedroom TLF rooms will make it impossible to house all Department of Defense families on-base. We kindly advise all PCS members and sponsors to plan accordingly. Moreover, we will be issuing letters of Non-Availability (NA) and will provide assistance with accommodations at off-base hotels.

For more information, contact Shogun Inn at 632-1010 or Commercial at 098-962-1100.

National Anthem Courtesy Reminder

Friendly reminder, military members in uniform will render the same customs and courtesies afforded to the American national anthem to the Japanese national anthem.

Discussion: Some questions have been asked with regards to the etiquette to render customs and courtesies to the Japanese national anthem. According to AFI 34-1201, Protocol, "during the playing of national anthems of friendly nations, military members and civilians should render the same customs and courtesies as those given during the playing of the United States national anthem."

Guidance: When Retreat is played as a prelude to the national anthem at the end of the duty day, face the flag (or the music if the flag is not visible) assume the position of parade rest and upon the first note of the Japanese national anthem, assume the position of attention and (1) render a salute when in uniform or (2) place your right hand over your heart when not in uniform, or civilian personnel, until the final note of the American national anthem.

Please direct questions regarding this matter to the 18th Wing Protocol Office at DSN 634-1808 or 18wg.ccp@us.af.mil

How to File a Complaint with IG

If you believe you are unable to resolve your complaint through supervisory channels, you may seek IG assistance to determine if the complaint should be filed with the IG. You can file a complaint if you reasonably believe inappropriate conduct has occurred or a violation of law, policy, procedures, or regulation has been committed. Complete the personnel data information on an AF Form 102 and briefly outline the facts and relevant information related to the issue or complaint. List the allegations of wrongdoing briefly, in general terms and provide supporting narrative detail and documents later, when interviewed by an IG person. Allegations should be written as bullets and should answer who committed the violation; what violation was committed; what law, regulation, procedures, or policy was violated; when did the violation occur. Help is available: Call your Kadena IG office at 634-7622 for Maj Sarabia, 634-2768 for SMSgt Aguirre, or leave a message on the Kadena Fraud, Waste, & Abuse (FWA) Hotline at 634-0404.
