A social distancing sign hangs outside the base exchange March 30, at Kadena Air Base. During the two-day tactical pause, base services have been significantly reduced allowing our members of the 18th Wing to maximize teleworking capabilities and other creative manning options to ensure mission readiness.

COVID-19

Twin infants evacuated amidst COVID-19 crisis

By 1st Lt. Daniel de La Fé

51st Fighter Wing Public Affairs

3/30/2020 - OSAN AIR BASE, Republic of Korea — Parker and Laine McFall were born February 17 at 30 weeks in Daegu's Yeungnam Medical University Medical Center during the COVID-19 outbreak. They were medically cleared and protected from COVID-19, then transported to Osan AB for a follow-on flight to Joint Base Andrews, Maryland, culminating in care at Maryland's Walter Reed National Military Medical Center for advanced neonatal patients.

The 18th AES from Japan's Kadena Air Base is one of the few Neonatal Critical Care Air Transport Teams in the world. The squadron's ability to mobilize quickly with the most advanced equipment available gives patients the critical care they need during flight.

Advanced precautions were made to protect the infants, parents, medical providers and air-crew coming from across the region to support the critical care transport.

The parents, U.S. Army's Spc. Cody McFall and Pfc. Cheyenne Evans with the 188th Military Police Company at Camp Walker, were preemptively tested for COVID-19 and placed in quarantine on March 10. They tested negative and are currently showing no symptoms.

U.S. Army Col. Joseph Hudak, a neonatologist from Brian D. Allgood Army Community Hospital at Camp Humphreys, transported the infants via ambulance from the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit in Daegu to Osan AB. From there, the infants were placed aboard the aircraft and flown to JB Andrews.

Neonatal Critical Care Air Transport Teams give children access to the higher echelon of care they need, and Walter Reed National Military Medical Center is the only facility currently able to accommodate the infants' specific needs.

USNS Mercy accepts first patients in Los Angeles

By MC2 Natalie Byers

U.S. 3rd Fleet

3/30/2020 - LOS ANGELES — The hospital ship USNS Mercy (T-AH 19) accepted its first patients in Los Angeles, March 29, during its support of the nation's COVID-19 response efforts.

"I couldn't be more proud of our crew for all the hard work they did to get us here and ready in such a short time," said Capt. John Rotruck, Mercy's Military Treatment Facility commanding officer. "Being able to accept our first patients is a true testament of the teamwork between Mercy, the Navy, the State of California, the county of Los Angeles, and the City and Port of L.A."

While in Los Angeles, the ship will serve as a referral hospital for non-COVID-19 patients currently admitted to shore-based hospitals, and will provide a full spectrum of medical care to include general surgeries, critical care and ward care for adults. This will allow local health professionals to focus on treating COVID-19 patients and for shore-based hospitals to use their Intensive Care Units and ventilators for those patients.

"The men and women embarked on board Mercy are energized, eager, and ready to provide relief to those in need," said Rotruck.

Sailors transport the first patient aboard the hospital ship USNS Mercy (T-AH 19) into the casualty receiving area, March 29. Mercy deployed in support of the nation's COVID-19 response efforts, and will serve as a referral hospital for non-COVID-19 patients currently admitted to shore-based hospitals.

Mercy is a seagoing medical treatment facility that currently has personnel embarked for the Los Angeles mission, including Navy medical and support staff assembled from 22 commands, as well as over 70 civil service mariners.

Mercy's primary mission is to provide an afloat, mobile, acute surgical medical facility to the U.S. military that is flexible, capable, and uniquely adaptable to support expeditionary warfare. Mercy's secondary mission is to provide full hospital services to support U.S. disaster relief and humanitarian operations worldwide.

U.S. 3rd Fleet is operating as the Maritime Command Element, West, for U.S. Naval Forces Northern Command (NAVORTH), under U.S. Northern Command for Defense Support of Civil Authorities in support of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, the lead agency.

Kadena conducts COVID-19 testing

By Senior Airman Rhett Isbell and Airman 1st Class Mandy Foster

18th Wing Public Affairs
3/25/2020 - KADENA AIR BASE — Airmen from the 18th Medical Group conduct COVID-19 testing at Kadena Air Base, Japan, March 20. Under the most current guidance from the Centers for Disease Control, the 18 MDG has increased its testing for the disease.

Those who are tested become Persons Under Investigation (PUI), are contacted by Public Health, placed into isolation and instructed on how to avoid spread of their illness to family members in the home. Public Health interviews the PUI and develops a list of “close contacts” who are then called and given instructions to quarantine for 14 days. A close contact is someone who lived with or cared for a PUI, had direct physical contact with a PUI, or shared eating utensils or had prolonged close conversation with a PUI. On average, lab results take 2-5 days to return. If results are negative, isolated and quarantined individuals will be notified and released. If results come back positive, quarantine for the close contact will continue for 14 days and isolation for the PUI will continue until the PUI is medically cleared. Someone who has had contact with someone deemed a close contact does not need to be placed in quarantine but should continue to practice social distancing.

200 new doctors, nurses to join military medical ranks early

By USU Staff

3/27/2020 - WASHINGTON — More than 200 military medical students and graduate nursing students from the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences, known as USU, will be graduating early to support their colleagues in the U.S. military health system amid the global coronavirus pandemic.

USU President Dr. Richard Thomas made the decision when the national emergency was declared, officials said.

“Our curriculum has a specific focus on threats like emerging infectious diseases and disasters that our military and Public Health Service forces are likely to encounter in the course of their careers,” Thomas said. “This instruction is based on real-life lessons learned, is woven throughout the curriculum and incorporated into our medical field exercises.”

USU’s students are uniquely prepared to meet and address the readiness needs of the Defense Department and the nation the moment they step out of the university’s doors, Thomas said.

“This is exactly what they were educated and trained to do,” he added. The surgeon generals of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Public Health Service will receive a competent cadre of health care professionals who can augment current resources available to them.”

The students, who are all active duty uniformed officers in the Army, Navy, Air Force or Public Health Service, will have completed all of their requirements to be awarded a degree and will be available for reassignment by their respective services, officials said. The officers include physicians; family health, mental health and women’s health nurse practitioners; clinical nurse specialists and certified registered nurse anesthetists.

USU is the nation’s only federal health sciences university.

III MEF and 7th Fleet Judge advocates Join Forces Aboard Blue Ridge

(U.S. Navy photo)

By U.S. 7th Fleet Public Affairs Office

3/31/2020 - SOUTH CHINA SEA — Judge advocates from the U.S. 7th Fleet and III Marine Expeditionary Force (MEF) staff came together at sea aboard 7th Fleet flagship USS Blue Ridge (LCC 19).

U.S. Marine Corps Maj. Daniel Majtan, currently assigned to the III MEF in Okinawa, Japan, embarked the USS Blue Ridge during the ship's port visit there last month. As part of the embark Majtan worked with Cmdr. Katherine Pasieta, fleet judge advocate; from U.S. 7th Fleet, with the objective of increasing naval integration, from a legal aspect.

"No question professionally that this has been a learning experience," said Majtan. "To understand that we could both be supporting a joint task force where I'm supporting the land component while 7th Fleet is in the maritime component, I now have a better understanding what everyone is doing at sea which ultimately makes the joint task force stronger."

During this time, Majtan was able to help support the 7th Fleet mission by standing as a judge advocate for the staff while one of the staff members was on temporary duty away from the ship.

"I believe the diversity in perspectives could be helpful," said Pasieta. "Coming up as Navy judge advocates and having the narrow naval-centric point of view and having someone bring something else is helpful, which Maj. Majtan has done. As we talk through issues it's great to have a different way of seeing things. For instance, we could be used to doing one thing a certain way, but together we could find a better method for things, which is helpful."

7th Fleet serves with III MEF to continually execute missions that enable maritime superiority through effective command and control, prosecution of naval fires, and operational maneuvers.
